

Trigger X Saltwater Spray

Enhance lures and hookbaits by coating them with Saltwater Spray. The spray also contains small, attractive flecks, which are released in the water and further heighten fish awareness. The spray should be re-applied regularly to ensure a constant release of fish-attracting liquid into the area being fished.

Trigger X Saltwater Gel

The gel should be smeared on to lures and hookbaits. The pheromones will slowly be released from the gel attracting fish to where the lure or hookbait is working. Re-apply when the gel can be seen to have dissolved.

Trigger X Dough Bait

Specially formulated to appeal to trout, Trigger X dough baits are available in two versions. Long Range will work over a greater distance and is best loose fed as well as used as a hookbait to release even more pheromones into the water. Fast Action is at its most effective when fish are already in the swim.

Ten Flavours

NEW Trigger X

Pheromones are chemical signals and act as a method of communication between fish. Research by CEFAS* has shown pheromones can trigger heightened responses in fish, including feeding. Findings also indicate that fish do not appear to become acclimatised or sensitised to pheromones in the way they can to some scents and baits.

- CEFAS is a British government department and an internationally renowned aquatic scientific research and consultancy centre.

Trigger X sprays, gels and baits contain patented pheromones that attract fish and stimulate them into feeding. These pheromones are pre-mixed at the manufacturing stage and release naturally when immersed in water.
